Linguistics Master (PO25) Organization Template

This template can help you organize your study course and keep an overview of your classes.

Good to know:

- One class usually corresponds to 2 SWS (2 hours per week, 90 minutes to be exact)
  - You can replace two classes of 2 SWS with one class of 4 SWS.
  - You can see in the HIS-LSF how many SWS one class has.
  - A class + the work put into it at home results in 3 LP.

- For each module you only need one exam (MP)
  - If you have a module of two classes, you only need to take one exam in one of the two classes, it's your choice in which one.
  - In the module Finalization, the MP is simultaneously your thesis.

- MPs are usually term papers or oral exams. You set a date (either for the oral exam or for the registration of the term paper) and topic with the lecturer and register as an "Individualprüfung".

- Each semester you register which class gets which SL in the Studierendenportal.
  - Here is an explanation on how to do that
  - You have to do that before the lecture period ends!
  - If you need to change SLs from one module to another or you forgot to register them at all, you can use the A-Tool to request the SLs or the change afterwards.

Exploration – Seminars in this module address the intersection between linguistics and adjacent disciplines such as Philosophy, English and American Studies, German Studies, Romance studies, or Computer Science. 12 LP in total!
